

MARKETING & COMMUNICATION DESIGN INTERN

Have you always wanted to be part of the rise of circular economy? And eager to learn new skills in the upcoming summer? Are you someone who likes to tell stories, visualise designs and engage with lots of people? But your summer got freed-up due to corona? This open call might be for you.

At Studio Smelt we are looking for a new intern!

We can guarantee a safe work distance since we are a two person company with a spacious studio space.

About us:

We are Plaatjesmakers, situated on the edge of Amsterdam working towards new innovations in the field of plastic waste streams. We are a design agency focused on the creation of interior and furniture design made with inhouse recycled plastic sheets. Through craftsmanship and engineering Mark and Thomas, two dutch guys, pave the way towards 100% recycled plastic design.

What will I do in this internship, what will I learn?

- Product photography
- Visual Content creation and editing
- Corporate branding and positioning
- Video content creation and editing
- The ins and outs of "how to business your design"
- Social media outlet and online advertisement
- 3d design for online branding
- Execution of custom design projects for our clients
- Introduction to the world of thermoplastics and its history
- Maintaining a webshop, its logistics, up to date sustainable packaging

Who are we looking for?

- You have an eye for detail
- You have an Independent and proactive work attitude
- You have a feel for copywriting
- You are familiar with the Adobe suite
- You are not afraid to visit partners and pickup the phone
- Fluent in English

What time period are we talking about here?

Start : august/september

Duration: quarter/semester

